“ I hate to see a whole life reduced to words. I loved my grandma so much as did pretty much anyone who knew her. This world is a little less grand without her. She taught me many things about life that I hope to never forget. I hope to be even a fraction of the woman she was. I miss her terribly and she could never be replaced. I just hope wherever she is, her spirit is shining no longer burdened by her aging body. Love u Grammy!
