“ I’m so sorry to hear this. I’m going to miss Carrie. From the little time I’ve been fortunate to know her, I was pregnant and a new mom and she was so supporting and always checking up on “how me and baby” were doing from even before she was born. This was us and a group of us gals last summer out at the beach for the baby shower she helped throw for me. She and all of her light & positivity will be missed! I’ve been wondering about her and am sad to see this. All of the love to her kiddos, family, & loved ones. 💕

“ I am rarely at a loss for words but the pain of Carrie's passing and seeing the raw anguish on the faces of her mom and sister - well, there are no words. Carrie truly was such a bright light and the world is indeed less without her shimmering presence. We will all miss the sound of her laughter and her bouncy personality. She was loved by all who knew her. Sleep well in the arms of the angels darling girl.

“ I miss my big sissy. This has left a hole in my life... and I will now carry her in my heart and mind.

My nickname Panda was given to me by her, so.. it has more of a special meaning to me now.

Thank you to all who have been there to support us and give us their memories of her.

“ Carrie was pure light. When she walked into a room her laugh, aura and smile commanded everyone's attention. It was a rare gift and I don't think I have known anyone else that had it in the way that she did.

I remember driving everywhere in the 65 Mustang with her in high school and listening to the Grateful Dead, Little Feat and Led Zeppelin. Letting her drive my car before she had a license to the horror of her mom. Scraping together change to buy a bean burrito (with no onions) from Taco Bell. Living together on Maple Street and on Southridge, sharing clothes and beers and loose change for bean burritos. When we were young we went out every night and she always made it memorable.

I remember years later when she had her daughter, Helaina. She was absolutely smitten with her and spent years taking care of other's kiddos (including mine) so she could maximize her time with Helaina. She loved her so much and always told me how proud she was of her intelligence, her drive and her empathetic heart.

I hate that she left us too early. I hate it for me, for her daughter, for her mom and sister, for her family, for her friends, for everyone who she touched...because without her light, the world is just a little darker for all of us. Love and miss you Carrie Ann.
