Christian Scott Harsha

March 5, 1995 - December 1, 2016

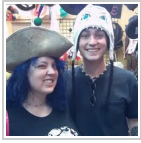

Christian Scott Harsha, 21 was born on March 5, 1995, to Brett and Bridgette Harsha in Fort Collins, Colorado. He died unexpectedly on December 1, 2016. Christian is survived by his father, Brett Harsha; his mother, Bridgette Harsha; his step-father, Bob Hoffman; his grandparents, Truman and JoDell Harsha and Lee Giudice and Jim Inglehart; two sisters, Allison Harsha and Safira Harsha and a brother, Samuel Hoover.

Christian graduated from Rocky Mountain High School in 2013 where he developed many enduring friendships. He had a heart for homeless people and was always eager to help them in any way he could. He and his dad were active in the Vineyard Homeless Ministry. Christian's sweet, loving nature has touched many lives in his short stay on Earth. He recently gave his life to Jesus Christ and was baptized in August. This gives us a wonderful hope that we will see his beautiful smile and feel his big hug again someday.

Plans for a memorial service are pending. In lieu of flowers, please send memorial donations to the Vineyard Church Homeless Ministry, Serve 6-8, or Fort Collins Rescue Mission.

Another way to honor Christian's memory would be to give your time as a volunteer for one of the outreaches to the homeless community.

“ I can't believe it's been over 3 years buddy. Everyone still walks around stunned that such a bright part of their life is gone. I know I will see you again my son. You are my best friend and I miss you so much. I'll see you when I get home my son.

“ While walking my dog through Troutman Park this morning, for the first time I stopped by the bench with his name. I was curious who this person was. Reading comment, I became very emotional. I felt that he and I shared something in common. I wish I had known this beautiful soul. I think this memorial site is a wonderful way way to keep his memory alive. Sorry for your loss.

“ Tonight I ache for you. My tears won't stop and my chest hurts. I can't breathe. If I could rub your head one more time, see your smile, hear you tell me it's going to be okay mom, or just sit in silence together.... I don't know how to live this life, this "normal" without you. So many people on here will talk about how you were special, saved them, inspired them. I knew your heart the moment it started beating. I knew you were special even then, before the world ever met you. A part of me is missing now, yearning to be complete again. The heavens truly gained a beautiful soul; be free my son. Grab those new adventures with the same passion you lived here on earth. Praise your heavenly Father with the same fire you debated your earthly one. :-). My prayer is your death will save life. So many people were touched by you. Please, whoever reads this, remember my son and live, follow, and serve. Inspire others, clean up, help those in need, do not judge, and LOVE. Someday I hope to be able to do the same.

“ It's taken me quite some time to figure out how to put into words the impact Christian had on my life. I light a candle every night and I hope sees it because I hope to feel his presence. He was so brilliant beyond his years and I could just sit there for hours listening to him speak with such passion about his views on the world and people and humanity and just everything. He never failed amaze me each and every day and he spoke with such passion in ways that could actually get to people and was just so compassionate in the way he always wanted to reach out and help others. Because of this and because of Christian's amazing courage and by the grace of God I am still here because Christian reached out and saved my life. Gave me a second chance that I didn't think I'd get. I cannot express my gratitude to Christian and his dad for all that they did fit me when I struggled too. I do and forever will look up to Christian and hope to have the same open mind that he always had. Words can't describe the respect i have for your and for your dad. Christian rest in peace, I hope you see how insanelyloved you are down here.

“ So many unforgettable life changing memories.

There are no words to describe how deeply Christian has impacted my life the past couple years. I would not be here today without him. He has been the only person in this world that has taken the time to understand and truley connect with who I was and who I am as a person.

There will always be very painful memories, mistakes, irreversible regrets and the never forgiving thoughts will always thoughts but without those

“ This picture was taken years ago next to the river on a hot summer day. I didn't know at the time that years later I would be searching endlessly for this picture. When I finally found it I was surprised to find one that included myself, originally I was just looking for a picture of Daniel and Christian. Even though you can't see Christian's face you can't miss Daniel's smile. I am thankful for Christian. I am thankful for the memories, friendship, and the reminder to care for others. Thank you Christian.

“ It has taken me a while to come up with something to say about my beautiful best friend because this has been a very hard thing to understand. In the years that I was close to Christian we spend countless nights sitting in his car talking about our lives and where we would end up years from that point and how we could help each other get further in life. We laughed endlessly, we cried on each other's shoulders but our friendship helped me through every hardship I had. Even when neither of us wanted to talk to anyone and everyone else had left us we could depend on each other to understand and to be there. He always gave me that big smile, that great hug and a place to be comfortable when I needed. He always strived to better and never stopped. He had the biggest heart of anyone I know. I loved him very much. He is an amazing soul that I feel blessed to have shared so much time with and I honestly don't know what I am going to do with out him.
