“ I didn't know Jeff as well as most. I attended Heritage Christian High School with him, but he probably wouldn't have ever remembered me as I was only there for one semester. We were in a few classes together...most memorable was speech class and computer class.

There were many memorable speeches, but the number one that sticks out in my mind of his is the speech he gave with Isaac Olthersdorf (sp?) (sorry Isaac...it's a hard last name to spell). That day, we were supposed to give speeches on a product, like we were making commercials. We were paired up with partners and Isaac and Jeff did a bit on Jolt Cola. They drank so many Jolt Colas by the end of their speech they were both jittery and giggling through the rest of class. I know to some that may sound bad, but everyone (including the teacher) thought it was funny. I hated giving speeches, but speech class was the best class of all because of all the characters that were there. Jeff also loved to sing in this high-pitched squeaky voice that always lightened everyone's mood and made everyone laugh. I didn't know Jeff well and didn't keep in touch over the years (like I said he probably doesn't even remember me) but he brought many laughs, smiles, and entertainment. I know he lived life to the fullest and has many family and friends who love him. He will be missed by so many...even those who only knew him for a short time. He made an impact in my life and I'm sure many others.

I hope Jeff's family and friends find peace and comfort through these difficult times. I couldn't believe it when my sister Cheryl told me the news. I hope my brief history with Jeff brings a smile to your face, because he gave many smiles to me and many others. I know Jeff loved to make people laugh...he was good at that.

“ My family has known the Wrights for more than 60 years. My heart is aching for both sides of Jeff's family. I am very close friends with his dear Aunt Stacy and I hear the pain in her voice. I am so sorry for this whole family's loss. All I ever heard was how loving and kind Jeff was. Sending loving thoughts and prayers to Jeff's entire family.

Love. Becky
