“ While I never met Narciso, I know his daughter Judy Ann well. She embodies her father’s loving joyful spirit of which I and my sisters have had the pleasure of witnessing for many years. She is a true friend.

Peace on your final journey Narciso

I have always admired my brother for his gentle soul... I used to visit him on our birthdays which were very close... I noticed that on Saturdays he would bring his wife a bouquet of flowers and sushi which she liked and I commented to him how proud I was of him for his Saturday treats for his wife. He thought for an instant and replied, “Olga, that the least I can do for her... she gave up her country, her family and her religion to marry me and come to the US.” That’s the kind of man he was.

Al and Fumiko lived in the house behind me...for 40 plus years....and we frequently talked over the fence,and on occasion I was yelling at him to get off the icy room of his house! He just had to fix something that what he thought needed repair--of course, not that someone else couldn't have done. Always made me nervous that he would fall. If I was having a project done--Al, Bill, and Art were always there to supervisor and always had an opinion. That was the neighborhood. I miss them.

Narcissi and Fumiko were long time friends of my parents. They met in Japan in their early twenties. I remember how happy they were when Judy and Joe came into their life. Narciso was always very thoughtful and kind. So sorry for your loss.
