“ I am so sorry that I did not know of Norma's death til recently as I would have attended her service. She was a treasured part of our writing group as long as we met (some 10-15 years) and we always looked forward to what she wrote. I saved some of her essays that spoke to me. Norma was a perfect example of aging well. I always admired that she took each in stride step in the aging process with grace and and humor and made it a good thing. She was unique!

“ Norma was a mentor to me. We both taught yoga at the senior center and has long visits over a meal and while doing yoga together. This world was better for all her wisdom and kindness. Much love to you Norma on this next journey. Tink

“ We first met Norma when she taught a yoga class at the Senior Center. Then she was a member of the senior ice skating group at the Epic. She invited many friends to a birthday party at Fossil Creek. She posed for our portrait drawing group. She shared a booklet of her writings with us. When she could no longer drive, she road her three-wheeled bicycle to get groceries. She was a great inspiration for all.

“ I ice skated with Norma for a number of years. She became a dear friend and even brought me homemade stew when I was recovering from surgery. I loved it and it was the first time I ate stew with rutabaga in it. She had me interpret what people were saying before she got her hearing implant. I have a pair of ice skate earrings that Norma gave me when she stopped skating. They remain a very special gift to me. My sympathies go out to her family and friends. Pam Allen
