“ The world lost a beautiful, strong, inspirational woman, with a spirit bigger than the warm spring evening she left us. That evening the lilacs were blooming, and the late daylight was shining through the baby green leaves shimmering in the breeze.

Love is really all that matters, how you touch people in life, and how you make a positive impact on other people's lives, is what will be remembered.

I wish for everyone that they are surrounded by as much love and peace, when they make their exit from the world we know.

Thank you, Ornella, for the love you gave this world, and the beautiful family you created, that love will live on in everyone you touched. Rest in love and peace.
