“ I served with Paul on the Loveland Construction Advisory Board for a few years. He was a pleasure to get to know and we had many good talks during those years. Even after that time I had the wonderful opportunity to know Paul and call him a friend. He even fixed some of the plumbing problems in our house that no one else seemed to have time for. Paul was a fine upstanding man and the world will miss him. I know I will. I know he is doing well dancing with the angels in Heaven now. I pray for those left here without him as I know that road all too well too. You are all in my prayers and thoughts. You had a real gem in your lives with Paul.....

“ The staff, Board, volunteers and families of the TLC House send thier condolences on the loss of Paul an incredible and sweet man. Paul helped Alternatives to Violence(ATV)for many, many years. He generously donated his/employees services and experience to keep our transitional house for domestic violence families in working order. Paul was such an amazing man who was willing to work tierlessly to ensure the quality of living for our clients many times at no or at a reduced cost to our agency.In his death he and his family are still blessing us with his generosity,by making memorial donations to ATV. Paul will be surely missed. Our thoughts go out to the Kisselbeck family/friends & Paul's Plumbing. Everyone at ATV is sending you hopes of peace and healing.

“ Paul was a genuine, good person. He had a huge heart and he cared deeply for those he loved. I remember how he purposely stayed out of the kitchen when we spent hours baking Christmas cookies but he was always more than willing to sample them and let us know which ones he liked. I remember how he and Sally invited my daughter and I to Christmas dinner because we had no family to celebrate with, but yet it felt like we were surrounded by family while we were there. Paul made this world a better place and he will be missed greatly.
