“ Paul was a great man, and as sad I am to hear about his passing I know he is no longer suffering and struggling to live his life. Paul and I worked together for Securitas security and though we saw each other only once a week or so we became very good friends. Paul was like a father figure to me I enjoyed visiting with him for hours on end and laughing about all the little things in life. Paul was a man of true grit, stubborn and set in his ways but I accepted it because I knew he was a loving person. I could tell by the way he often talked about his children and how excited he would get when his daughter and son in-law would come to visit. He is one of those people that made a true impact on my life he offered advice and listened to me like a father would listen to his own son. I enjoyed hearing his stories about growing up in Fort Collins and the time he spent in the military. I will always remember him for his great smile and laugh, I am sad that I was not around to attend his funeral and even more sad that I did not find out until today that he had passed away. Paul will forever remain in my heart as a true friend and father figure and even though it has been some time since his passing I can't help but think of how he enriched my life and became a great influence. I would like to say to his family that I wish them nothing but the best and offer my condolences.

“ I'm going to miss you Paul; you were my closest friend and fishing partner these last ten years or so!

May your soul rest in peace and perhaps we will meet again Paul. Wet a line or drown a worm; maybe even have a beer up there.

God speed my friend, and God bless. I'm sorry we didn't get to celebrate your birthday this past Friday like I had planed.

Your close friend,
Bob George

“ I had the pleasure of knowing Paul from 2004 through 2007. In the beginning he would stop into our office here and there and exchange pleasantries. I will never forget the day he came in to ask me to reduce his hourly pay to help avoid issues with his Social Security benefits. While most folks would prefer to cut their hours, Paul was different. He had grit. As time went on, Paul was promoted to Field Supervisor and I visited with him just about every afternoon at 4. I enjoyed our friendship and we had a lot of laughs together. I was saddened to hear of his passing, but know that he had been expecting it for some time and that he, personally, was at peace with it. My thoughts will be with his loved ones.
